FALLING INTO THE "GAP" TRAP

By Ted J. Clarke

NOTE: There will be articles to follow this one. Please keep these for future reference.

1. Genesis 1:3, "And God said, Let there be light: and there was light." It does not say that God "created" or "made" the light, but He did say, "Let there be." You will see that God's spoken word both "created" and "made" and that Moses and other biblical writers did not make distinctions in these words regarding God's creative acts.
2. Genesis 1:6, "And God said, Let there be a firmament," and in verse 7 Moses said "And God made the firmament." When God said, "Let there be," He "made" the firmament: in two different words or phrases.
3. Genesis 1:20, "And God said, Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature...and fowl that may fly." Then, in verse 21 Moses notes, "And God created great whales...and every winged fowl." Thus, when God spoke His "Let there be" statements He "created" (v. 21) and "made" (v. 7) all being equal to each other.
4. Genesis 1:25, "And God said, Let us bring forth the living creature after his kind," which was followed in verse 25 by Moses saying, "And God made the beast of the earth after his kind." When God said, "Let there be" (referring to animal life), He both created and made, Moses using the terms interchangeably.
5. Genesis 1:26, "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness." When Moses spoke of this act of God, he wrote, "So God created man in His own image, in the image of God created He him; male and female created He them" (verse 27). In these verses the fact that God "made" man in His own image in one verse and "created" him in His own image in the next is absolute proof that Moses used these terms as equivalents in discussing the creation events. Remember this point! Although these are not all of the "Let there be, created, and made" passages in Genesis 1, they are sufficient to show that each was equal to the others in the writings of Moses.

Several points can be made which destroy the gap theorists' contention about the supposed distinction between "create" and "make" as they apply to God's creation. First, why is it that God had to create the great whales and winged fowl (1:21), but He made the beasts of the earth (1:25)? All categories of animals are composed of the elements of the earth, so there is no reason why God would "create" one and "make" the other, unless both terms are used interchangeably. Second, the fact that both words are used in bringing man into being "in God's image" shows that they are considered equal by Moses. One cannot say that it is the spirit of man that God "created" while He "made" the physical body from the dust, for Moses said that man, in the "image of God," was both made and created. Also, what God created was "male and female" (verse 27), which refers in part to their physical bodies, formed from the dust and a rib (Genesis 2:7, 21-23).

BUT NOT ON SUNDAY NIGHT

By An Unknown Poet

*I love the church that Jesus bought,
And I know that it is right.
I go there on Sunday mornings,
But not on Sunday nights.
I love to sing the songs of God,
Such worship must be right.
This I do on Sunday morn,
But not on Sunday night.
God bless our preacher too,
And give him power and might.
But put the sinner in my place;
I won't be there Sunday night.
I love to hear the gospel, too.
It gives me pure delight.
I hear it every Sunday morn,
but not on Sunday night.
I know I need more strength
To keep me in the light.
For help I come on Sunday morn,
But not on Sunday night.
Yes, we all must die, 'tis true;
I hope I'll be doing right.
So, I trust I'll die on Sunday morn,
But not on Sunday night!*

THANK YOU!

Connie and I want to thank you for the card and gift card. That was very thoughtful and kind of all of you. We continue to thank God for each one of you. We are very blessed to be a part of this congregation. Thank you for your love.
