Some Things the "Tolerant" Cannot Seem to Tolerate

Many in the mainstream media (especially those of "celebrity" status) are becoming more and more vocal in their condemnation of Christians as being an "intolerant" people. They just cannot seem to tolerate what they view as our intolerance. Do you find that somehow ironic?

We (Christians) should be tolerant, they tell us, of those who choose and commit to others a homosexual lifestyle and "same-sex marriage.", as opposed to marriage as ordained by God in the New Testament. We should be more tolerant of Islam by viewing it only as "a religion of peace", regardless of what the Koran teaches and what the evidence clearly shows. We should be tolerant of those who choose death, rather than life, for defenseless infants in their mother's wombs. We should be tolerant of sexual promiscuity rather than advocating the "narrow" view that only husband and wife should become "one flesh."

Am I reading these things all wrong? Or, is the case that the "tolerant are becoming increasingly intolerant of:

- our unapologetic conviction that truth is absolute (John 8:32)
 - our unapologetic conviction that truth is attainable (2 Tim. 2:24-26)
 - our unapologetic conviction that truth is revealed through the infallible, inerrant words of the Bible (2 Tim. 3:16-17)
 - our unapologetic conviction that truth is non-negotiable, even when some find the truth offensive (Gal. 4:16)
 - our conviction that Jesus is the only way to God (Acts 4:12; John 14:6)
- Truth is, by its very nature, intolerant of that which is false (1 John 2:21). If the choice is between being tolerant of falsehoods and being true to the Word of God, then may we have

Some Guidelines for Christian Recreation:

Is the practice questionable in your mind? Does it destroy your identity as a Christian? Does it have a weakening influence on others? Is it destructive to your body? Does it conflict with your duty as a Christian? Does it cultivate inordinate fleshly appetites? Does it bring you under weakening influence and association? Does it bring upon you an unequal yoke and place you at a disadvantage in serving the Lord? Would Christ do it? Selected
